

Good food assured as Dalmore Inn celebrates another award nomination

Perfect for a day out from the city, The Dalmore Inn in Blairgowrie is celebrating being nominated in the Good Food Guide 100 best local restaurants 2024.

Asking members of the public to nominate their favourite local restaurants, the scheme aims to recognise the best independently run establishments in the country. Criteria it looks for includes having hands on owners and chefs, regularly changing seasonal menus at affordable prices, and strong relationships with local suppliers.

The restaurants must also foster good relations with local communities, and provide a genuine warm welcome to customers.

Having been notified by email that it's through to the next round of voting, the Dalmore Inn will continue to ask its customers for even more nominations,

"We are really pleased to have been nominated in this – It's just the sort of recognition we are after as it's specifically for independently run restaurants, not big chains," said General Manager, Arnaud Merrouche.

"We are very much in the heart of the community, in a rural location, using seasonal produce and local suppliers every day, so things like that really matter to us as do the fact that many of our customers are local. We see the same faces time and time again and we really appreciate the support they give us, " added Arnaud.

"Ticking the box for additional affordability, at the moment, we have our 20% off all food purchases Monday to Thursday throughout May and June, " finished Arnaud.
