

Fire service in attendance at Ocean Terminal

The fire service has been called to the part of Ocean Terminal which is under demolition on Wednesday afternoon.

In these photos there are six fire appliances and according to reports it is the metal which was being cut that may have caused the fire. But apart from causing a traffic jam for cars and trams there are no reports of any injuries.

Thanks to Paul Johnston for the video and photos.

Reports of a fire at the area of Ocean Terminal where demolition is in progress where six fire appliances attended this afternoon No reports of any injuries.
pic.twitter.com/jj5DvFN0FU

– Edinburgh Reporter (@EdinReporter) July 17, 2024

Due to the Fire Brigade at Ocean Terminal, trams are short running between Edinburgh Airport and Balfour St only. Tram tickets are accepted on @on_lothianbuses between Balfour St and Newhaven. #Edintravel pic.twitter.com/0CATeNyLXS

– Edinburgh Trams (@EdinburghTrams) July 17, 2024