

Former Hibs youngster Harry Wright signs one-year deal with Stirling Albion

Stirling Albion have announced the signing of 18-year-old midfielder Harry Wright from Hibs on a one-year deal.

Wright 18 is the son of Hibs legend Keith Wright.

He began his career with Tranent Colts before signing his first professional contract with Hibs in the summer of 2022.

During his time at the Hibs, Wright made appearances in the U18 and Hibs B squads.

He has also participated in several first-team training sessions under the guidance of former manager Nick Montgomery.

He was released in the summer.

Speaking about the new signing, manager Alan Maybury said: "There was a lot of interest in Harry and we are delighted he has come to Stirling.

"He has a bit more about him than most young players and I am excited to see him progress and develop with us."
