#Unleash Your Fringe – Navigating the 3,317 shows at this year's Fringe can be daunting, but I've got you covered.

After countless hours of research, I've curated a list of 185 must-see shows in my annual Fringe recommendations.

As a dedicated Fringe enthusiast with 16 years of experience, I used to share my list for free, but due to popular demand, I'm now charging a small fee to reflect the effort involved.

My selections are based on thorough research, trusted PR tips, and my reviews from previous years. You'll find a diverse array of shows, many of which are free or affordable, including those in the PBH Free Fringe. I've also included numerous offers to help you get the most out of your Fringe experience.

DISCLAIMER: I haven't seen all the shows, so I can't guarantee you'll love every recommendation. Fringe is all about taking risks and discovering the unexpected. If you see a show from my list, I'd love to hear your thoughts—drop me a message on Facebook and let me know how it went.

There are two versions of the spreadsheet – a 1-pager (a summary of the 185 curated shows) and a fuller version, which gives the summary and individual sheets by genres. This version also contains a list of offers, which can potentially mean you get more money for your buck!
