

Fringe 2024 – Gwyneth Goes Skiing

Gwyneth Goes Skiing, a co-production between Awkward Productions and the Pleasance Theatre, returns to the slopes after two sold-out and critically-acclaimed runs in London, and a trip across the pond to Utah.

This gloriously silly play-with-music is a very silly story of justice, betrayal and optometry that makes the audience the jury, asking them to decide who's guilty and who's gooped.

Pleasance Courtyard (Forth) until Monday 26th August 2024 (not 5th, 12th, 19th) at 3.30pm. COMEDY / THEATRE

Tickets here.

We met "Gwyneth Paltrow" yesterday and she invites audiences to come and decide the legal case against her
<https://t.co/f6CaeZsvAC> pic.twitter.com/ZKCybEngFN

– Edinburgh Reporter (@EdinReporter) August 1, 2024

Gwyneth on the right was sued in real life by a retiree optometrist

