

Jewellery company staging a pop up

Jewellery company, Welded Love, will pop up at an out of town salon event.

Fife based jewellery company, Welded Love make customised jewellery, which is both clasp-less and seamless, with an extensive selection of sterling silver or gold filled chains and connectors. The jewellery is made to measure for the customer and is then welded shut.

The innovative business is planning a collaboration event with All About You salon in Allan Street, Blairgowrie on 17 August, from 11am till 4pm. Welded Love will host a pop up event at the “sanctuary” salon, which is owned and run by Kirstie Williams.

There will be canapés and a drinks reception, and while browsing Welded Love ‘s range, anyone attending will be able to sample some mini taster treatments from Kirstie and her salon staff.

Kirstie’s mum, Helen, who makes a range of handmade bears featuring Harris Tweed, will also have a stall for visitors to browse.

Kirstie has put together a raffle with the star prize of a deluxe beauty hamper/gift voucher from the salon.

She said: “My staff and I are really excited about our pop-up event, and are keen to spread the word.

“We want All About You to be far more than just a salon – we want to become a real talking point in our local community, collaborating with, and showcasing a whole range of different businesses and artisan providers.

“Welded Love are a really innovative company, capturing the mood of the times for customised jewellery, especially for couples, which reflects who you are. I’ve been very impressed with their products! They are just the sort of business – focussing on real quality and craftsmanship – that I am keen to showcase to our customers.”

Open for the past sixteen months, All About You has fast made a name for itself as “the go to salon” of choice for clients across Perthshire- a centre of excellence in beauty, wellness and holistic practices, and is ideal for a day away from the city.

Along with a range of treatments, unique to the local area, including seaweed based facials, body scrubs, and seaweed immersive baths and wraps, the salon, which already holds a “Best in Class” Fresha award, uses VOYA Products.

Kirstie also offers Guided Meditation and is a fully trained Reiki Master.
