

New flights announced for city breaks from Edinburgh Airport

If you are looking for a weekend break towards the end of the year then there are Jet2 flights and holidays now available online.

From Edinburgh Airport this winter there are flights to two cities where they host Christmas markets – Vienna and Prague. The schedule with several flights each week begins on 20 November and continues until 4 January.

Steve Heapy, CEO, Jet2.com and Jet2holidays, said: “The demand we are seeing for our enormously popular Christmas Markets programme continues to increase, which is why we have responded and put our Christmas Market destinations on sale for Winter 25/26 from Edinburgh Airport. This latest programme includes the return of a mini-series of trips to Vienna, as well as to flights and city breaks to Prague. As more people look to escape to a winter wonderland next winter and take advantage of all the fantastic benefits provided by Jet2.com and Jet2CityBreaks, we know that our Winter 25/26 Christmas Markets collection will be as popular as ever. We look forward to taking customers to these magical destinations next year and helping them to feel their most festive.”

Jonny Macneal, Head of Aviation at Edinburgh Airport, said: “The introduction of festive flights to Prague and Vienna is fantastic news for anyone who finds themselves mulling over a Christmas getaway.

“We know for many people Christmas is the most wonderful time of the year, and this programme of flights and trips for winter 25/26 with Jet2.com and Jet2CityBreaks allows people to plan ahead if they want to mark it with a getaway.”
