

OASIS make “unscheduled” appearance at Sketchy Beats

Local artist, Donald Young, has brought the Gallagher brothers together in a new exhibition of his work. He has painted the duo ahead of their concerts in Edinburgh next August.

He paints expressive music icons and is using the charitable venue Sketchy Beats at 208 Great Junction Street EH6 5LW as a home for his latest artworks. He has also produced paintings of BB King, Tina Turner, Axl Rose and Sid 'n Nancy. Follow him on Instagram

Anyone who wishes can go to see the works can contact Cosima @Sketchy Beats for more details. sketchybeatsedinburgh@gmail.com

Sketchy Beats is a non-profit art space in Leith, and it works as an open platform for creatives of all kinds to share their work and ideas with the public.

Portrait of a person with a microphone.

Portrait of a person in a blue shirt.

Portrait of a person in a green jacket.

Portrait of a person with a red jacket.

Portrait of two people.

Portrait of a person in a blue jacket.

Donald with his work

