

East tennis adds to sponsorship portfolio

East of Scotland Tennis have agreed a new partnership with Olium Financial Management which will see them added to a sponsorship portfolio supporting the sport in the area for the coming year.

The partnership will assist the administration of the Olium Financial Summer Leagues and support East of Scotland Tennis' wider goal of providing a performance pathway for juniors and seniors to develop current and future talent in the area.

The Summer Leagues run each year from July to September and see teams of four from clubs across the East of Scotland compete in men's, women's and mixed doubles matches.

Viki Mendelssohn, chair of the East of Scotland LTA said: "We're delighted to be able to partner with an organisation like Olium Financial. They're a great company who understand tennis and wanted to do more to back the sport locally."

The deal sees Olium Financial become the official sponsor of the East of Scotland Tennis Summer Leagues and their logos will appear on the caps of the region's youth teams.

Ross Wilson, founder of Olium Financial, whose company logo will appear on the caps of the East youth teams, said: "I'm delighted to be working with East of Scotland Tennis to support players in the region. I've always had a deep passion for the sport and it's wonderful to have the opportunity to give something back to this wonderful game.

Olium Financial provides comprehensive financial planning through the provision of face-to-face advice, designed to focus on the unique circumstances of each client.

They join VMH Solicitors and Dunlop as official partners of East of Scotland Tennis.

Olium Financial founder Ross Wilson with some of the East of Scotland tennis youngsters who stand to benefit from the company's sponsorship Olium Financial founder Ross Wilson has a deep affection for tennis and is serving up a sponsorship.