

The Rat Pack swing in to the Usher Hall

Swing music to entertain at the Usher Hall in December.

The stars of The Rat Pack – Swingin’ at the Sands will bring the ultimate Christmas party to the Usher Hall this festive season following a sold-out show at the West End’s Adelphi Theatre last year.

After spending five years starring as Dean Martin in the hit West End show ‘The Rat Pack – Live From Las Vegas’, Mark Halliday created his first of many hit shows, ‘The Rat Pack – Swingin’ At The Sands’ in 2010.

Over the past decade the show has gone from strength to strength, with appearances in some of the UK’s leading theatres, spots on cruise ships across the world from Catalan to Colombia, events for corporate clients including Virgin Airlines and performances at outdoor shows everywhere from Denmark to Dubai.

With their mastery of the Great American Songbook, the show says it has authenticity, camaraderie, comedy and the ability to give everyone a swingin’ time.

Starring Richard Shelton as Frank Sinatra, Jason Pennycooke as Sammy Davis Jr and Glenn Macnamara as Dean Martin, the show will offer audiences all the usual most-loved Rat Pack staples including “New York, New York”, “That’s Life” and “My Way” as well as singalongs to a range of festive favourites such as “Winter Wonderland” and “White Christmas”.
