

Concerns growing for welfare of 65-year-old man last seen in Parkgrove area

UPDATE: Police Scotland: "Gary Coyle, reported missing in Edinburgh, has been traced safe and well."

"Thank you to all who shared our appeal."

Police are appealing for help to trace Gary Coyle, 65, who has been reported missing from Corstorphine, Edinburgh.

He was last seen around 9.20am on Saturday, 30 November in the Parkgrove area.

He is described as around 5ft 4, of slim build and has long thinning grey hair. It is not known what clothing he is wearing.

Inspector Alison Lawrie said: "Concerns are growing for Gary's welfare. I am appealing to anyone who might have seen him, knows where he may be, or if Gary himself sees this appeal, to please get in touch with officers."

Anyone with information is asked to call 101, quoting reference number 3163 of Sunday, 1 December 2024.