

Murrayfield host refreshed stadium tours from Monday

Renowned rugby commentator and former Scotland trialist Bill McLaren is to be celebrated in a special section of the refreshed Stadium Tour available at Scottish Gas Murrayfield from Monday.

The tour now includes a visit to a reconstruction of Bill's study transported from his home in Hawick and is complete with desk, typewriter, pictures and vast collection of books, videos, and clippings.

Visitors can also hear a recording of his last ever interview before his death in January 2010, aged 86.

The 90-minute tour takes visitors behind the scenes at the largest stadium in Scotland with an experienced tour guide relating stories across 100 years of Murrayfield history – part of Scottish rugby's 150-year story. The tour culminates in the Scotland team changing room and includes a walk down the players' tunnel and into the stadium bowl.

Public guided tours will run twice daily, Monday-Thursday (11am and at 2pm) and three times Friday-Sunday (11am, 1pm and 2pm). The tour will last approximately 90 minutes. Prices start from £15 (adult) and £10 (under-18),

Bookings are now open for December until the end of February.

For further details click here

EDINBURGH, NOVEMBER 28: Pierre Schoeman and Darcy Graham during the launch of the Scottish Gas Murrayfield Stadium tour at the Scottish Gas Murrayfield Stadium, on November 28, 2024, in Edinburgh, Scotland. (Photo by Ross Parker / SNS Group)

SCOTTISH
RUGBY