

David Gray provides injury update ahead of Celtic game

Hibs head coach David Gray has provided a team news update ahead of Sunday's Scottish Cup Quarter-Final against Celtic.

Joe Newell missed last weekend's victory over Hearts with an abdominal injury, whilst Warren O'Hora came off in the first half of the Edinburgh Derby.

Speaking ahead of the game to Hibs TV Gray said:

"We're in a good place. Obviously, Kwon can't play because he's on loan from Celtic, and Joe Newell still isn't available.

"Warren O'Hora came off against Hearts last weekend. Hopefully that one isn't as serious as we thought it was initially. We're monitoring him all the time, but he's still got an opportunity potentially. We will give him right up to the game to see whether he can be involved.

"Everyone else is fit, available, and had a full week's training. Everyone is confident, there's a feel-good factor at the training ground, and we've got a fantastic game to look forward to."
