On Sunday, Hibs recorded their second successive victory over Hearts, a feat they last achieved 16-years ago.

And by avoiding defeat, David Gray's men stretched their unbeaten run to 15-games, the first time they had achieved such a run in the same season since the days of the Famous Five, eight decades ago.

A superb goal from Martin Boyle and an even better one from Jack Iredale, his first for the club, secured the three points that moved Hibs up to third in the table.

Iredale's 'Wayne Foster' style celebration on the advertising board will live long in the memory of Hibs fans.

Here are some of Ian Jacob's photographs from the day.
