

Bloomin' gorgeous in The Meadows today

It was another day of pink gorgeousness in The Meadows on Thursday just ahead of Easter weekend.

The blossom is coming out nicely now and more of the lovely cloud-like Sakura are putting their distinctive mark on the pathways which crisscross there.

But if you are in the area then don't take too long before you go to see it for yourself – and there are many other places in the city which also feature the lovely blossom, leading us into the warmer days.
