

Norway defender signs for Hearts

Defender Christian Borchgrevink has put pen to paper for Hearts, signing a three-year contract for an undisclosed fee, and he will make the move when the transfer window opens in June.

The 25-year-old right-back is captain of Valerenga in Norway and is a product of the Oslo side's youth system.

Borchgrevink was part of the team which secured European qualification and played in the UEFA Europa Conference League.

Of course, the Norway under-21 cap will join countryman, Sander Kartum, at Gorgie.

Neil Critchley, Hearts' head coach (pictured), said: "He is a strong, athletic, talented player and a leader on the pitch. He has played at a high level in Norway and we feel we can provide an environment where he can improve."
