

Nicky Cadden named Hibs Player of the Year

Nicky Cadden has been named Hibernian FC Player of the Year for the 2024/25 campaign.

The Hibs left-wing back has won the award in his first season at the Club piping Rocky Bushiri, Martin Boyle, and Nectar Triantis to the prize as voted for by the fans.

Nicky Cadden has been a key player registering 11 goal contributions. The 28-year-old won the SPFL Player of the Month award for December and has played a key role in the 17 match incredible unbeaten run.

It was a successful night for Rocky Bushiri who picked up two separate awards – claiming the Moment of the Season award for his last-minute equaliser against Aberdeen in November, before claiming the Players' Player of the Year award.

Nectar Triantis picked up the Club's Young Player of the Year award for his impressive season in the middle of the pitch, whilst there were no surprises that Jack Iredale won the Men's Goal of the Season for that iconic goal in the Edinburgh Derby.

In the Women's Team, Eilidh Adams was named Women's Player of the Year for her outstanding season in-front of goal and after breaking into the Scotland Women's National Team.

Kathleen McGovern took home the Women's Goal of the Season award for her stunning strike against Rangers in December in a memorable 3-0 away victory.
